

Table of Contents

Foreword.....	7
Introduction	9
Chapter I. Rising from the Macabre: McEwan’s Increasing Concerns with Social, Historical and Political Forces.....	17
1.1. Setting the Scene on the Battlefield of Post-War Fiction: Preparing for Funeral or Diversity?	17
1.2. McEwan’s Increasing Involvement in Social and Political Issues.....	21
1.3 “The Widening Gyre” of Identity in McEwan’s Fiction.....	32
Chapter II: Dark Insights within “Innocent” Crimes: Personal Relationships and Morality Issues in Ian McEwan’s Fiction.....	45
2.1. Private Tensions, Isolation and Traumatic Challenges to “Innocent” Identities	47
2.2. The Risks of Initiation in The Innocent	53
2.3. Life-Changing Traumatic Encounters in Black Dogs	62
2.4. Isolation as a Consequence of Trauma in The Cement Garden	66
2.5. Atoning for Traumatic Misunderstandings	73
2.6. Traumatic Wanderings in Search for the Child Faded Away in Time	81
Chapter III. Experiencing Sexuality: the Politics of Gender Identity in Ian McEwan’s Fiction	87
3.1. Patriarchally and Incestuously Defined Gender Roles in The Cement Garden	90
3.2. The Masochistic Comfort of a Sadistic Social Structure	96
3.3. Sexuality and Gender Roles on the Historically Cold Battlefield in The Innocent	106
3.4. Naively and Socially (Mis)understood Sexuality in Atonement	114

3.5. Miscommunication and Socially Restrained Sexuality On Chesil Beach	121
Chapter IV. Publicly and Privately Mirrored Nightmares: Identity, Politics and History”	129
4.1. Spying on Each Other in the Age of Anxiety: Constructs of Social (National) Identities and Tensions in The Innocent	130
4.2. Butchering Bodies and the Berlin City in The Innocent	143
4.3. Personal and Historical Reiterated Violence in Black Dogs	148
4.4. Social Issues and the Entanglement of History and Fiction in Atonement	157
4.5. The Intrusion of Post 9/11 Politics into Domestic Lives in Saturday	165
Conclusions	177
Bibliography	183